

Meaning and Symbol	Example	Corrected Example
Capitalize 	Jack London wrote Call of the wild .	Jack London wrote Call of the Wild .
Make Lowercase 	Buck is the hard-working sled dog in the Novel .	Buck is the hard-working sled dog in the novel.
Delete 	This dog he had a strong will to live.	This dog had a strong will to live.
Insert (add) letter, word, or punctuation 	He would not be by ^{defeated} his life of toil.	He would not be defeated by his life of toil.
Insert Space 	If Buck was not so [#] strong he would have died.	If Buck was not so strong, he would have died.
Delete Space 	Buck was home s ick.	Buck was homesick.
Spelling Error 	Dave, the wheeler dog, nipped and snarled at Buck.	Dave, the wheeler dog, nipped and snarled at Buck.
Spell Out 	Buck, who was from CA ^{sp.} had a thing or two to learn.	Buck, who was from California, had a thing or two to learn.
Run-on sentence, comma splice, or sentence fragment. RO CS Frags. 	RO Spitz was Buck's main threat each dog wanted to be the leader.	Spitz was Buck's main threat; each dog wanted to be the leader.
Grammatically Awkward 	Two dogs fight, it was a dramatic struggle.	Two dogs fought. It was a dramatic struggle.
Move left, right, up, or down 	Buck used his incredible strength to defeat his rival.	Buck used his incredible strength to defeat his rival.
Start a new paragraph 	He then was truly the lead dog. Another important character...	He then was truly the lead dog. Another important character...
End punctuation needed 	Two dogs fought to earn the position of leader.	Two dogs fought to earn the position of leader.
Change word order 	The two (dogs strong) fought over the bone.	The two strong dogs fought over the bone.
Choose a better word [word choice]	The dog [nibbled] ferociously on the bone.	The dog chomped ferociously on the bone.